“ Where to start...my life was better with you in it. Princess Brigade won't be the same. You were a pain to buy shoes with and battle who was paying for lunch. You were such a safe place for me, you understood, I'm so lost now.

If I knew that hug was our last, but we didn't want to let go. Maybe some how it was just known. It was one of my best hugs ever.

My Jeeps are all real jeep ma'am!! I guess I have the last say for now.

I'm so sorry I couldn't make it today. Had I know why you didn't tell me happy birthday I would have been there. The wedding will be a little lacking without you. But I hope you're at peace!!

*Thank you for being my friend
Thank you for your love my friend*

I met you at the gala many years ago, and you were in plain clothes and princess jewelry. Every year since we were the table to watch. Dubbed by all as the princess table, tiaras and all.

I still some how hope you answer my texts. What am I to do now...

World a little darker now without your light shining in it. I love you and will miss you with all the shattered pieces of my heart

*You definitely will be missed Cindy. Thank you for being in my wedding and many memories of us hanging out @ the Club Heaven downtown Pittsburgh. We made a vow never to leave the club alone without each other. Many memories of visiting your family home in high school. Dressing like twins when going out. Just so much. Wow are to believe your gone. Geez
RIP CINDY*

“ Rest in Peace cousin Cindy. I remember when we were kids our grandmother (Louise) would bring me out there to Pittsburgh from NYC every summer. I remember we would go to the mall or just spend time at the house. I will miss you Cindy. You will never be forgotten. Love you cousin ❤️

“ Cynthia was a guitar student of mine for the past few months. Her personality was so endearing and we became quite friendly very quickly. I enjoyed each of our lessons together as she often had me laughing. I'm so saddened to hear that she has passed on. Cynthia was so full of life and passionate about studying the guitar. She expressed how pleased she was with her progress on guitar and shared her vision of wanting to perform on the street to share the music she loved with the community. It's heartbreaking that she wasn't able to fulfill that beautiful dream on this earth. My deep condolences go out to her loved ones. I will miss her very much. May God bless her.

“ Retired Master Sergeant NemaI

I met Butler Perry in 1990 when I was assigned to be a squad leader in the 630th Transportation Company in Washington, PA. The company was on lockdown and getting ready to deploy to Desert Storm. Butler Perry was a good soldier and was eager to drive a tractor trailer M915. After returning from Desert storm, I moved on to many different units. I met up again with BP, as we liked to call her, in 2002 at the 2nd/312th Regt 78th Division Transportation team. She was a great asset to me by gathering all of the information from all other team members to create a spreadsheet that had to be sent on a daily basis to the First Army about the readiness of the many military units being deployed to Iraq/Afghanistan. With her valuable assistance in this task, our unit successfully accomplished our mission in preparing the soldiers being sent to war.

I retired in 2007, and several years later was invited as a guest to her retirement ceremony. The photo attached is from her retirement ceremony.

*I served with her at the beginning of her career and celebrated with her at her retirement ceremony in Pittsburgh, Pa
